Hoover Prepares Veto Message On Soldiers' Bonus

President Spends Nearly Week Drafting Important Veto Message

TO OUTLINE HIS IDEAS ON BILL

Contents Veterans Should Not Be Given Cash
Awards For War
Services

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President Hoover plans to return the World War veterans bonus bill to Congress this afternoon with a message declaring his opposition to its provisions and outlining his reasons therefor.

Because of the political significance he realizes will be attached to his veto message, Mr. Hoover has spent nearly a week drafting it, and printed copies are being prepared.

The President's gesture of dissent from the measure, will prove futile, for both houses of Congress stand ready to re-pass it immediately by the two-thirds majority necessary to override a presidential veto.

The bill, which increases the loan value of each veteran's adjusted compensation certificate from 22½ percent to 50 percent, according to the executive, not only will not serve to furnish any real relief but may well further upset the economic situation because of its cost. He has estimated it may saddle an additional billion dollars on the public, although proponents of the legislation set the cost at a third of that amount.

In common with former Presidents Harding and Coolidge, Mr.
Hoover contends the veterans, as a class, should not be given a cash reward for their wartime services.

Final Compromise By Oil Producers Is Given Today

House Leaders Get Final Compromise From Producers—Committees Gets To Work

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A final compromise in the oil tariff fight under which imports of foreign oil would be cut about 50 per cent was laid before the house republican leaders today by Rep. Hoch (R) of Kansas, representing independent producers.

The special committee named to attempt to work out an agreement and prevent a threatened wide open party split, took the proposal under consideration.

Well, you can tear another month from your calendar at the end of the week.

New Castle's boys triumphed over Ambridge at the Pitt stadium last night. All the Newses are hoping they march straight to the uppermost rung of the championship.
They're anxiously awaiting the result.

The postoffice is going through its annual procedure of asking bids for lighting, heating and so forth at the present time. About this time every year they make plans for operating the building.

The new state highway signs downtown, directing motorists to different cities, certainly will help strangers.

With the big leaguers going south and west to train for the coming season, New Castle sandlotters are also getting into trim. For several

Bridge Slaying Case Is Started

Defense Attorneys Claim That Shooting Was Accidental

PROSECUTION SAYS
DELIBERATE MURDER

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 26.—Mrs.
Myrtle Bennett, comely brunet, accused of the first slaying to result from a bridge game quarrel—that of her husband John G. Bennett—was branded as a "deliberate slayer" and pictured as a victim of circumstances in the opening statements of state and defense attorneys to a jury in circuit court today.

"Mrs. Bennett killed her husband deliberately," Prosecutor James R.
Page told the jury.

"It was an accident," former United States Senator James A. Reed, chief of defense counsel, said.

Guests Witnesses.

The first witnesses to be called by the state will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman, guests of the Bennett's at the fatal bridge game. Hoffman was an eyewitness to the slaying.

They also have been summoned as witnesses for the defense.

Another state witness will be Mrs.
Alice Adkins, mother of Mrs. Bennett. It was from Mrs. Adkins room in the Bennett apartment that Mrs.
Bennett obtained the gun with which she killed her husband.

The assertion of former United States Senator James A. Reed, chief of defense counsel, was that the shooting was accidental, was expected to be attacked by the state on the allegation that Mrs. Bennett chased her husband through the rooms of their apartment before firing four shots at him, two of which took effect.

The quarrel that led to the slay-ing followed Bennett's failure to make his wife's bid of four spades and his slapping her face.

NEARLY 600,000 DRIVERS ARE WITHOUT LICENSES

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 26.—Nearly 600,000 auto drivers in Pennsylvania were without 1931 operator's licenses today. A deadline for the applications is three days away.
During 1930, 1,945,221 licenses were issued by the bureau of motor vehicles but up to noon yesterday only 1,350,000 cards for the present year had been mailed.
The usual last-day rush was expected to swamp the bureau with applications.

Seek Compromise On "Lame Duck" Measure

Conferees From House And Senate Seek Solution
For Eliminating Session

Would Need Three-Fourths
Of States To Ratify Amendment To Constitution

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—After giving President Hoover legislative solutions for the aging Muscle Shoals and new Soldier's bonus loan problems, congress today sought a settlement of the ten-year-old "lame duck" session issue.

Conferees from house and senate were to seek a compromise of the differences between the two branches, so a constitutional amendment, eliminating lame duck session, may be submitted to the states for ratification. If the house and senate agree and the president approves their plan, the proposal must be ratified by three-fourths of the states before it becomes the twentieth amendment to the constitution.

Two Long Sessions.

The senate plan would permit two long sessions of each new congress, convening on January 2 and lasting until the following New Year's Eve if necessary. Every four years, the presidential inauguration would be held on the same day that congress convened.

The house changed this, providing one long session and one short session as at present. Both sessions would start on January 4 with the second session. Halting by constitutional provision, on May 4. The house also set back the proposal inaugural date to January 24, so congress could meet and settle any controversy over the presidential election before the inauguration took place. It would further empower congress to choose a president if there was a deadlock in the electoral college.

Seek Early Agreement.

The conferees were expected to reach a compromise agreement, al-

Shenango Twp. Home Is Burned

George Schweinkert Home
Is Destroyed By Fire
This Afternoon

At 2 p. m. today dying flames were putting the finishing touches to the remaining timbers of the six-room frame home of the George Schweinkert family, Pennsylvania avenue extension, Shenango township. The house was burned to the ground.

The structure, located near the George greenhouse about two miles from the city line, had been attacked by flames shortly after the noon hour.

City firemen found the building a flaming furnace.

Neighbors in the vicinity worked frantically to remove furniture and other household furnishings. A bucket brigade was quickly formed but the fire had attained huge proportions and all hope of saving the home proved to be no avail.

Mrs. Schweinkert, who was found near the roaring furnace of what had formerly been her home, could hardly speak. She said her daughter Stella had gone out of the house about noon to mail a letter. She raced back into the home to inform her parents the roof was on fire.

Others in the district came rushing to the blaze. City firemen were notified and central fire station apparatus responded.

Lack of water hampered the fire fighters from the start. Bucket carriers helped to fill the booster tank of the Central station service truck.
By this means a stream of water was available that helped to check the flames just long enough to remove all additional furniture.

Cause of the fire has not been determined. Some believe the roof was attacked by flames from chimney sparks. The chimney itself was reported in good condition.

The loss was partly covered by insurance.

Elks of the New Castle lodge No.

will be Edward F. Ryan, retiring exalted ruler whose term expires April 8.

The lodge, together with other lodges of the northeastern Pennsylvania district, will play host here to Grand Exalted Ruler Lawrence
Rupp on March 24. Tentative plans for an elaborate reception are now in the making.

ing models ever placed on display

rooms and ball room of the Cathedral, the annual Automobile Show under the auspices of the New Cas-

it is a real treat to see the shining monarchs of the road assembled for display.

A good attendance is looked for orchestra will be in hand to dispense the latest jazz hits between 2:30 and 4:30 each afternoon and have a booth adjoining that of the New Castle Motor Club, both

any questions which the public may have relative to the motor code, highway courtesy, etc.

Another feature display will be the Diesel airplane motor, which operates without carburetor, spark plugs, or magneto.

Holcomb escaped with minor bruises and cuts.

He was placed under arrest on a technical charge by Chief Ray awaiting an adjustment of the danger caused to the property of the Grove City resident, and was later released when full settlement was made.

Woman's Murder Mystery Solved; Man Confesses

Frazer Declares He Killed
Mrs. Stader Accidentally
With Rifle

HAULED BODY TO NORTH CAROLINA

Shooting Occurred In New Jersey—Frazer Held
At Raleigh, N. C.

(International News Service)
RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 26.

—William M. Frazer today confessed that his rifle killed Mrs. Phoebe Stader and that he took her on a "death parade" from New Jersey to Virginia, according to authorities. He told Prosecutor Abe David, who arrived here from New Jersey, that the killing occurred in that state.

"We were just out riding on Tuesday night (February 17) and I reached back to the rear seat to get the .22 rifle. I pulled it toward me and it went off and the bullet struck Phoebe in the head."

"It was nearly crazy when I realized
she was dead. I didn't know what to do."

Leaves Body In Auto.

Frazer said he then went to the home of Ira Jensen and slept there that night, leaving the woman's body in his automobile. The next morning, he said, he went out and took all the clothes off the body.

He kept Mrs. Stader's body in the automobile until Thursday, he said,
and then started driving to Raleigh.
Near Bowling Green, Va., he took the body out and placed it in a patch of woods, he said. Frazer said he came on to Raleigh and remained here until police arrested him yesterday when he called at the postoffice for mail addressed to H.
G. Devlin.

"It was accidental, I tell you it was an accident—you can't send me to the chair for something that was

Akron Man Killed By Heavy Trailer

Leaps From Runaway Truck
And Is Crushed Beneath
Wheels Of Trailer

(International News Service)
BLAIRSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 26.—

Funeral services were to be arranged today for H. C. Hickle of Akron, O., who was crushed to death when he leaped from a truck on the highway near here when the driver lost control of the vehicle.
Hickle was crushed beneath the wheels of the trailer.

H. D. Stanley, 40, of Akron, driver of the truck, which was transporting a load of rubber from Philadelphia to Akron, told a coroner's jury that he advised Hickle of his intention to run the truck into an embankment to stop its wild dash without turning.

Not until he had stopped the machine did he notice that his passenger had apparently leaped from the vehicle. Stanley told the coroner's jury, who absolved him of all blame in the accident.

Arthur Mometer

Seems to me I heard an echo of a robin's voice today, not so loud, almost a whisper, but the theme of it was gay. There was promise of the springtime, there was hope of golden sun, there was promise of the twilight when the day's long task was done. Now perhaps I didn't hear him, maybe it was just a wraith or perhaps some hidden token of a firm abiding faith. But I know I heard that robin, though he's many miles away, for the spring is round the corner, weather's forty four today.

While he was away, the death of Dr. John A. H. Keith, former state superintendent of public instruction, occurred. Commenting upon it, Dr. Green said, "It is a matter of deep regret to me. I knew Dr. Keith well, and cherished his friendship. His passing will be regretted by every school man in the state."

vent approach of the curious and possible danger of an explosion. Over the countryside nearby the escaping gas hung a low-lying cloud and because of the roar of the gas, instructions to the workers are being transmitted via a blackboard, set up near the scene of operations.

How soon the well would be capped today appeared problematical. Some of the experts believe it can be done in two or three days, others estimate a week will be required before the flow of gas is harnessed.

Besides the Meeker well, three other large gushers and a number of smaller wells have been brought in in the region and more than 3100 leases have been taken on gas lands. The influx of prospector, leasees and spectators had taxed restaurant and lodging facilities to the utmost and one hotel here is building its third addition to care for the crowds.

You're the JUDGE

The Quick Motion Transfer Company entered into an agreement with a company manufacturing motor trucks whereby the Quick Motion company leased a number of trucks at a special yearly rental to be paid in quarterly instalments. The agreement provided that the truck manufacturing company maintain a repair station and at all times keep the trucks in good repair. The contract was to run for a certain number of years.

But a short time after the contract was drawn up, the motor truck company voted to wind up its business. Soon after that the company assigned and transferred all its business, including, of course, its repair station, to another truck company, which agreed to perform all the contracts of the first company then in force.

But after the Quick Motion company learned that another company had taken over the business, it refused to make the quarterly payment of rent and argued that the first company, by assigning the contract and giving up the repair station, was making a substitution in the contract which nullified it. So the new truck company went to court.

SEEK COMUROMISE ON 'LAME DUCK' MEASURE

The senate has been strongly opposed to any limitation on the length of a session. One of the principal objections to present "lame duck" sessions—which meet after a new congress has been elected—was that the forced adjournment on March 4 encouraged filibusters, led to confusion, blocked good and permitted bad legislation.

If the house and senate adopt a compromise, it is expected President Hoover will sign the legislation, since its application to the presidential term would not take effect for several years. In event he were re-elected next year, it might possibly shorten his second term—since its ratification before 1937 would strike a few weeks off the end of his second term.

THE GRAB BAG

February 26, 1931

Place 10 pennies in a circle, as above, so that each head is uppermost. Now, start from any coin you choose, calling it 1, the next 2, etc., and turn the fourth, so that the tail is uppermost. Start again on any coin and again turn up the fourth coin. Continue to do so until all but one are turned. Coins already turned are counted, but the fourth coin always must be an unturned one. Can you find a way of overturning all the coins, but one, in this way?

Of what country is spinach a native plant?

Who were the surveyors who established the Mason and Dixon line?

Brain Teaser Why is the letter Y like a young spendthrift?

Correctly Speaking—In writing say, "I enclose," rather than "please find enclosed."

STAR LORE

THE MIRAGE AND HOW IT GETS THAT WAY

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

In flat land areas of wide open extent it is no uncommon thing to witness a mirage. Such phenomena are more common in regions where the country is arid and hot. Perhaps a distant town or barn or grain elevator will appear lifted from beneath the horizon. This effect is brought about by the heat expansion of the layer of atmosphere next to the earth that gives that lower air less density than the cooler air just above it. Light rays passing through both the less dense and the denser atmospheres are bent upward in the direction of the denser atmosphere and thus give the object the appearance of being greatly elevated.

an accident," Frazer cried several times during the questioning by Prosecutor David and Chief of Police J. Winder Bryan of Raleigh.

Find Rife.

Following the confession, police made another search of the automobile which Frazer brought here. They found the rifle, a small, .22 calibre weapon, new, which police said apparently had been fired but once.

Frazer refused to say why he had the rifle in the car.

The cushion of the back seat was missing and blood stains were found on the upholstery of the automobile. Police revealed, following the confession.

"God knows I never meant to kill Phoebe," Frazer sobbed. "It was an accident, and I was just so shocked I was half crazy. I didn't know what I was doing."

Prosecutor David had not decided today when he would return Frazer to Rahway.

Body Reaches Home.

ELIZABETH N. J. Feb. 26.—The body of Mrs. Phoebe Stader of Rahway, found in a thicket near Bowling Green, Va., last Sunday, arrived on a train here early today where an autopsy was to be performed.

Philip Stader, husband of the woman, accompanied the body from the south. He refused to talk to newspapermen.

Meantime, local police awaited word from Raleigh, N. C., where Prosecutor Ave J. David of Union county was questioning William Frazer of Rahway, arrested there on a charge of murder made by Union county authorities in connection with the death of Mrs. Stader.

It is the theory of local officials based upon stories told by Frazer's wife and his cousin, Ira Jensen, that Frazer, who had been friendly with Mrs. Stader for some time, shot and killed her and then placed her body in an automobile in which he drove south, putting the body in an isolated section near Bowling Green.

Stays On Line For Seven Hours

Immigrant Forced To Straddle International Boundary Line

NOGALES, Ariz., Feb. 26.—William Woertz, aged 80, who proved he was a man without a country and a champion "endurance" as well by straddling the international boundary line for seven hours in a driving rain, faced the prospects today of spending more hours, maybe days, in the same unique position.

Woertz went to Mexico from California last week. Yesterday he attempted to return. Immigration authorities would not let him, charging he entered the United States illegally from Germany several years ago. He started back to Mexico, but the authorities ordered him out of there also.

"Then what can I do?" wailed Woertz. Someone suggested he straddle the imaginary boundary line and pretend he was in neither country.

So he did, for seven hours, and it stormed all the while. Sympathetic grocers fed him sandwiches at noon. A newspaperman gave him an umbrella, but too late, for he already was soaked. Custom officers finally relented and gave him shelter overnight, in jail.

Robert M. Cousar, chief of the American immigration office, said Woertz would be sent over to Mexico again today.

Mexican authorities sent word they would send him right back to Woertz hoped it wouldn't rain again soon.

The birth-rate of England has decreased rapidly and steadily from 35.3 per thousand of the population in 1880 to 16.3 per thousand last year.

TWELVE GREATEST WOMEN IN THIS COUNTRY?

WHEN five men start out to select the "twelve greatest women" in the United States and are given 2786 names to select from they have a job that might well dismay the stoutest heart. The survey in this case was conducted by Good Housekeeping Magazine, and the judges were the former Secretary of War, Newton D. Baker, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Booth Tarkington, Otto H. Kahn and Bruce Barton. That is a jury that should inspire respect. The women they decided upon are Grace Abbott, chief of the Federal Children's Bureau; Jane Addams, social welfare worker; Cecelia Beaux, artist; Martha Berry, founder of the Berry Mountain School in Georgia; Willa Cather, novelist; Carrie Chapman Catt, suffragist; Grace Coolidge, wife of the former president; Minnie Maddern Fiske, actress; Helen Keller, blind genius; Florence Rena Sabin, scientist and educator; Ernestine Schumann-Heink, singer, and Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College.

It must be admitted that these are all eminent women, but whether they are the "greatest" in the United States may well be a matter of controversy. In the first place, it is not easy to decide what it meant by the "greatest." A person may be great in some particular line of work and ordinary in other respects. It might be safer to say that those selected are the most notable in this country. Even with this qualification the judgement of the jury might easily be open to debate.

TAX RELIEF DOOMED

The inevitability of a large federal treasury deficit at the end of the current fiscal year means the administration will be unable to ask for another tax cut for the people for two years, if then.

Until recently the president had hoped to retain the 1929 income tax cut for another year by a program of rigid economy, but that hope was blasted by large appropriations for unemployment, drought and veterans' relief.

Unaccustomed as the federal government is to deficits there is nothing to worry about, particularly since the one now forecast is being incurred in a good cause. From time to time during the last 10 years congress has been warned of the possibility of a deficit. In 1928 and 1929 it was thought the government would find itself in the red, but this did not happen, although surpluses were sharply reduced.

There is this to worry about, however. Deficits must be made up sometime, and they can only be paid through taxes. Taxes over and above those already levied can only come in through increased levies or more prosperity for taxpayers, the principal sources of federal revenue being business profits and incomes.

Business and income-tax payers may be reconciled to the impending period without tax reduction, but they know and the government knows that the tax load is about as heavy as the traffic will bear and any further increases will retard business recovery.

MOTORLESS EDEN

The upper legislative council of Bermuda has rejected the measure which the lower council had passed, permitting physicians on the island to use automobiles while calling on patients. So the old remains. The island which has always been free of the modern automobile will keep its freedom. And somehow we are glad. It is good to think that somewhere in the world is a place where motors are not and motor horns never rack our nerves.

There ought to be a motorless Eden somewhere and Bermuda has acted wisely in keeping the automobile out. If physicians had been permitted to use cars, then others might also have asked the privilege and gradually there would be many cars on the island. It leaves a place where the pedestrian is top dog and where one may go to return to the quiet of olden days.

RUSH AND PENALTY

Europeans have called the rush and haste of modern American life "frenzied" and "furious," but Americans have been contented enough. It was all such a gradual growth that no one noticed it. Nations which move more calmly have appeared like slow-pokes, or even like backward or unprogressive states.

There is, however, a definite penalty for the American manner of life, and this penalty is, according to Dr. Ernest H. Lines of New York, constantly becoming more severe. Dr. Lines is chief medical director of a life insurance company, and doubtless knows whereof he speaks.

In this generation of rapidly advancing medical knowledge heart disease is the only ailment which is showing a steady increase. Last year heart trouble caused 18 per cent of the deaths in the United States and Canada; in 1929 the figure was 17 per cent and in 1913 it was only 13 per cent.

Dr. Lines says that the reason "is the feverish rush of modern life. The combination of overworking, overplaying and overeating drives the circulatory machinery at top speed without allowing for the rest periods which the body needs for its proper functioning.

Work less strenuously, play less strenuously, eat less, and rest more, suggests the Plain Dealer. This is the common sense deduction. But it already has been preached again and again. And the preacher has ever been as one crying in the wilderness.

ODD WAYS SOUND TRAVELS
How many feet per second does sound travel? If an explosion occurred in New Jersey, say 10 miles from a point in Brooklyn, would the shaking of Brooklyn be felt immediately after the explosion, or only when the sound reached there? Sound travels in the air about 1,100 feet per second, but the velocity varies with the temperature and other circumstances. In water sound travels more than four times as fast as in air. A curious result of this is that the firing of a gun at sea may be heard twice. Suppose the hearer to be close to the water on shore when a heavy gun is fired on a cruiser 5 miles away. The sound transmitted from the water to the air at the shore end will arrive in about 5 1/2 seconds after the flash, but not until about 20 seconds later will the sound transmitted all the way by air arrive. So two reports will be heard.

MARRIAGE CAN BE FRIENDSHIP

Are you friends with the man you married?

If you're not, you're not really married at all, because a marriage without friendship may be many other things, but it's not a true marriage of a man and a woman. It may be an economic arrangement, it may be the parent-hood of children, it may be a passionate love affair, but it is NOT marriage.

Often when I think of marriage, I think of that time many years ago when Robert Louis Stevenson came by canoe to the town of La Pere in northern France and spent the night in the inn that was kept by soft-spoken Bazin. Bazin said to Stevenson, "I am married and I have my pretty children. But frankly, it is no life at all. From morn to night I pledge a pack of good-enough fellows who know nothing." . . . But after the work was over, Bazin and Stevenson sat at the front door talking together and the Madame Bazin came out and sat there, too, tired from the day's work, "and she nestled up to her husband and laid her head upon his breast" and "he had his arm about her and kept gently patting her on the shoulder."

They were friends, and Stevenson said to himself: "I think Bazin is right, and he is really married."

A dozen years ago I was a soldier in that town of La Pere, when all its bridges were down and half its buildings were in ruins, and I looked all over for the inn with Bazin's name on its wall, hoping to find the place where there had been a marriage with friendship. But I did not find it, and I'm sorry I didn't.

And not long ago I heard a woman saying, "My husband and I are very good friends." I wasn't supposed to hear what she said, but I listened just the same. Her husband loved her, but she didn't love him any more; it wasn't her fault; she just didn't, that's all, but she and he were good friends. "Which is," she said softly, "perhaps better, after all, than being lovers."

No, not better, for lovers ought to be friends as well. But certainly better than being bound together in a straight road like this? The other smiled.
"I'm sorry, guv'nor," he said. "It couldn't be helped. You see, I thought your car was a fly on my windshield."

Happiness is a perfume you can't put on others unless you get a few drops for yourself.

Daily Editorial Digest

Symposium of Editorial Views By Newspapers of Nations on Important Subjects as Edited by Consolidated Press AssociationEmployment Stabilization Measure Widely SupportedOne Of Wagner Bills, It Is Believed, To Offer Means By Which Distress May Be Reduced To Minimum
In Emergencies

The passage of the Wagner bill, creating an "Employment Stabilization Board," to be made up of four Cabinet officers, whose duty it will be to keep the President advised as to business trends, is welcomed as an important step in the direction of dealing with periods of depression, though not regarded as all in the light of the words: "Senator Wagner has been one of the Administration's severest critics, particularly on the score of unemployment relief legislation," says the NEW YORK TIMES, which remarks that "in signing the Senator's stabilization bill, President Hoover heaped coals of fire on his head," especially in the words: "Senator Wagner and Representative Graham have worked out an admirable measure." It is the opinion of The Times that the legislation "is indeed an interesting experiment in political economics, significant both for the Federal policy it enunciates and the example it may set to the States and municipalities."

The ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION is interested in the fact that it is rather unusual for a Republican President to praise a Democrat's bill, and considers that "it would be helpful if Republicans and Democrats could find more to praise in each other. Too often the policy is to call bad what the other does and to oppose it. The public often suffers loss in such practices," this paper concludes.

So favorably impressed by the bill is the SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) REPUBLICAN, that it advises editorially that a "State planning system, like that established by the Wagner bill, should be set up in each of the States of the Union as a cushion against future employment crises."

This journal explains the function of the new board: "To adjust federal construction programs for public works from time to time, in correspondence with the condition of industry. It is a preparedness measure," it says. "Each department is required to keep in readiness construction plans for six years ahead."

It explains further, and it must suggest to the President that public-works program be expanded whenever it concludes that an industrial depression is imminent.

"This is highly interesting. The task will be exacting," says the NEW CASTLE NEWS, which suggests that "the work of keeping statistics will have to be done with great care, and even that it will take the best kind of good judgment to predict what the future is to be in building or in other lines of activity." This paper is pleased that the "new bureau will be under the direction of the Secretary of Commerce, thus increasing the importance of a department of the government which has steadily grown in power and usefulness since Mr. Hoover became its head." The DALLAS JOURNAL states that "adequate advance planning by Nation, States and cities would make it possible to carry on with needed improvements more surely and more intensively at a time when men are in need of employment. To delay planning until emergency is at hand, is to delay relief of the Haverhill, EVENING GAZETTE is of the opinion that "so simple and logical is the principle of this bill that the wonder is it has not long existed in statutory form."

Directing attention to the fact that "the basic plan of the Wagner Act first was advanced at the President's conference on Unemployment in September, 1921," and that it was also recommended for adoption in the report which the Committee on Unemployment and Business Cycles submitted in April, 1923," the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS suggests that "had Congress adopted the suggestion then, the present unemployment situation might have been prevented. Certainly it could have been alleviated." The ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS also asserts: "Had it been passed five years ago, unemployment might have been checked before the cumulative effects of the process became sizable in the Winter of 1930. But then man is notoriously unable to see farther than the end of his nose," concludes this paper.

"It is to be hoped that it will be many years before the United States collides so pathetically and needlessly with economic fact again," remarks the ROCKFORD MORNING STAR, "but if the collision does occur, after the train runs past every semaphore and torpedo flare on the line, there will at least be an economic hospital train in readiness to take care of the casualties," it avers. The ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH not only approves of the present bill, but urges appropriation of money by Congress for the financing of the first Wagner bill, passed at the last session of Congress, providing "for the collection of Federal statistics on unemployment," and supports the third bill, which has passed the Senate, setting up "a system of free public employment office."

"High-handed, subversive, red, which should be rejected," is the description of the Wagner Federal Employment Service bill given by the PORT WAYNE NEWS-SENTINEL, with the declaration that it induces "the State to accept Federal aid in return for the surrender of its own police and care of an exclusively internal question of policy." The News-Sentinel also says in its comments on the later measure: "In its appeal for passage of the Wagner Federal Employment Service Bill the American Association for Labor Legislation is painting ing a misleading picture, when it leaves the inference that the bill, as drawn, does no more than propose a co-ordination of existing employment agencies under the direction of the Director General of Employment. The bill goes much farther than that. It provides Federal Aid, under a 50-50 principle, to all states which through their Legislatures, accept certain rules and regulations prescribed by this Federal Director General as the general plan of their operation."

THE PARENT BUSINESS
When it comes to raising children I've a notion of my own.

The parents of the youngsters should agree.

If the mother says, "You may not!" in her most decided tone.

The answer of the father, "Not!" should be.

For no home can ever flourish or hold lasting happiness

Where the father's "No" is canceled by a doting mother's "Yes."

Start it early, and keep at it! Never venture to divide.

Even though you think the verdict may be wrong;

If you'd like to grant the pleasure which the mother has denied.

Let her be the one to say: "Well, run along!"

And, oh mother, if you think the dad a trifle too severe

With the verdict he has given, do not rush to interfere.

There's disaster in the making when parents disagree;

There is sorrow in the offering when a "no" is changed to "yes."

As the mother's head is nodded so the father's nod should be.

SUNSHINE MELLOWS Heat Purifies

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Everyone knows that sunshine melloWS—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

Heat Method Of Surgery Is Discussed

New Treatment Useful In Operations On Small
Tumors

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Surgical diathermy, like medical diathermy, is the production of heat in the tissues to which it is applied, by means of a high frequency electric current. The heat used in surgical diathermy is much higher than in the medical form, so high indeed that it cauterizes and destroys the tissues to which it is applied. Its effect is really no different from that of a cautery, but it has several technical advantages over a cautery—it can be better controlled.

Its use in small tumors in inaccessible places, such as in the back of the throat and in the bladder is well demonstrated.

The use about which the greatest amount of interest is aroused, to judge by the letters and inquiries I have received, is for removal of the tonsils. I have investigated and studied the question at some length and intend to set down here the plain facts about the matter as I have been able to gather them, attempting to be neither a dangerously enthusiastic advocate nor the too conservative opponent of a new method.

Diathermy may be used to remove the tonsils in one of two ways. First, at a single sitting. Either a local or a general anesthetic must be used. One electrode is placed on the patient's skin, preferably on the back of the neck. The other electrode, a small needle in which a large amount of the heat is generated, is run around each tonsil until it is completely destroyed. There is some pain and sloughing. The patient has to remain quiet for several days.

The other method requires from four to six treatments for each tonsil. A part of the tonsil is destroyed at each sitting. A local anesthetic is used. There is little discomfort and little disability or necessity of remaining in bed after the procedure.

Judging the advantages or disadvantages of the diathermy removal of tonsils over the regular surgical procedure I can see little difference between the single procedure, whether diathermy or surgery is used. Both require a period of disability and involve some discomfort. In expert hands, the man familiar with his own method—surgery or diathermy—will give about equal results. The removal in several stages by diathermy seems to offer some advantage to those who care to afford the time. There is little pain or disability. Children cannot usually be persuaded to undergo the several treatments necessary. I gather, so it is applicable almost entirely to adults.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendingen can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendingen, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Peter's Adventures

WHEN THE TRUTH CAME OUT
Blister Beetle was an insect that spoke its mind.

"Stop staring at me!" he again demanded, and this time Peter felt that he really ought to tell why he was looking at the fellow so intently. "I am sorry if I hurt your feelings, but, really, your head and your neck would make anyone look at you twice."

"Huh!" grunted Blister Beetle. "What's the matter with them?"

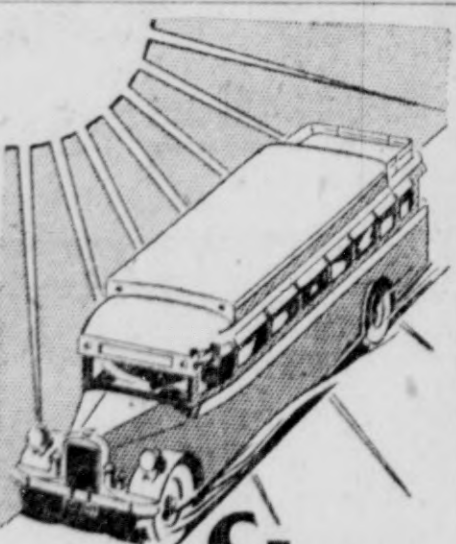

"They seem to be all of a piece!" answered Peter, truthfully enough. "Well, they suit me!" declared Blister Beetle. "What they look like is nobody's business. And since you seem so interested in me, perhaps you will be surprised to hear that I am of more value dead than alive."

This was strange news! "What do you mean?" asked the boy. Firefly Beetle snickered, and Peter heard the rest of the Beetles murmuring among themselves, but Blister Beetle was serious about the matter. "I make the ill well again!" declared the little fellow, importantly. "Wh-why, I never heard of such a thing!" cried Peter.

Now it was Blister Beetle's turn to stare at the boy. "Tell me something," begged he. "Are you a Human?" Peter nodded. "I am!" said he. "What of it?"

"Ow!" cried Blister Beetle, and scuttled away as fast as his spindling little legs would carry him. Nor did he trust to his legs long. A few paces away, and Blister took to his wings and flew.

"Of all the queer little people!" said Peter. "Why did he go away?"

SOVIET FARMERS STUDY.

(International News Service)

KONIGSBERG, Germany, Feb. 20.—A delegation of prominent Russian farmers and stock-breeders has been sent by the central organization of the Soviet cooperative stores ("Zentrosjuz") to study methods of farming and breeding of cattle in East Prussia.

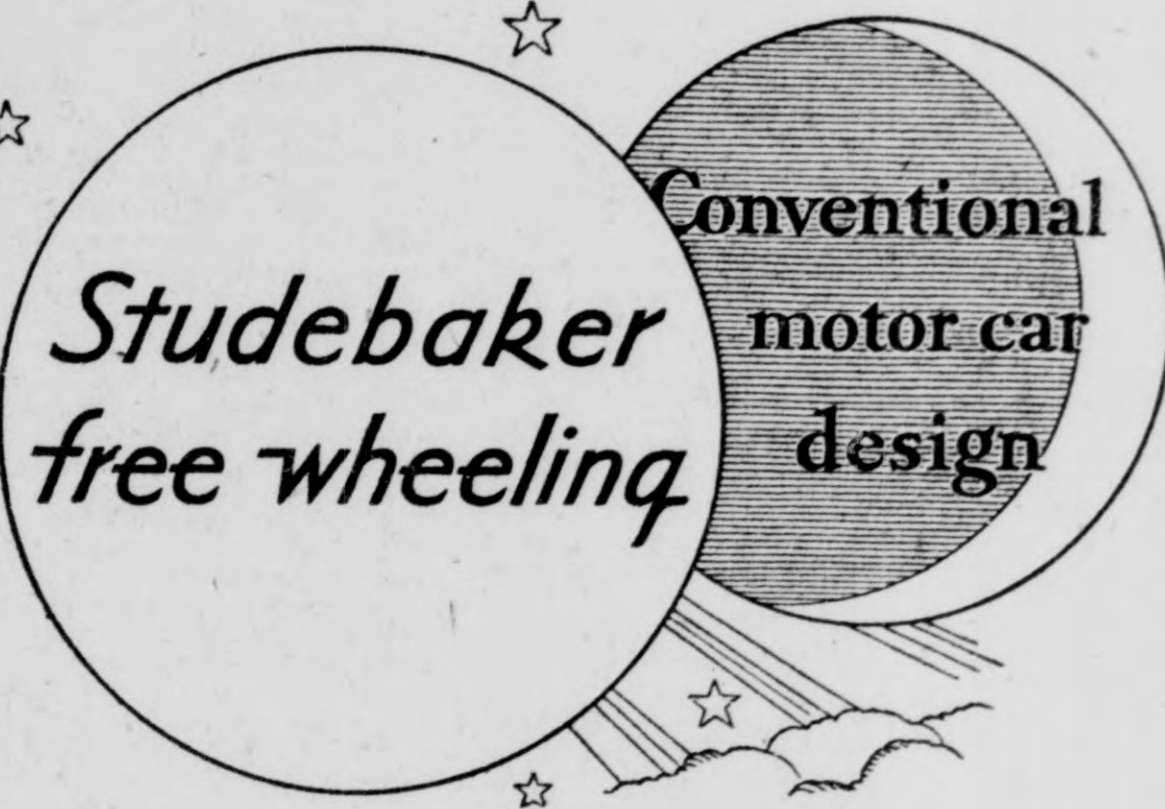

Prussia bought a large number of cattle in East Prussia last spring for breeding purposes, and further purchases are contemplated.

TOWERS TO BE WOOD.

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—Two new radio towers, each 328 feet high, are to be erected soon for a powerful broadcasting station in the western part of Berlin. A noteworthy fact is that they will be entirely constructed of wood, like the new station in Munklach, since the absence of metal materially reduces static. The aerials will be "basket aerials," which increase the sending area without taking up too much space.

The great eclipse of 1931

To the motorist thinking of buying a new car now, the attention the entire industry is giving to Free Wheeling means a great deal. Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln, noted for engineering excellence and conservatism, have adopted—intact and unmodified—the same Free Wheeling mechanism that is built into Studebaker's three great Eights and brilliant new Six.

Free Wheeling has captured public interest as thoroughly as it has captured the hitherto wasted power of momentum.

In Free Wheeling, for the first time in the history of the automobile, Studebaker has released momentum from subjection to the engine that creates it and made it serve as an instrument of economy and power. Free Wheeling with positive gear control utilizes this long-lost overflow of propulsion, enabling the engine to do five miles of work with four miles of effort and one mile of rest!

All Studebaker cars—the President, Commander and Dictator Eights, as well as the brilliant new low-priced Studebaker Six—have Free Wheeling with positive gear control. Studebaker cars are priced, f. o. b. factory, from $795 to $2600.

Services were cancelled on Tuesday due to the fact that Rev. Mr. Nesbit was called to Columbus to conduct a funeral of one of the members of his church. All planned meetings on Wednesday were carried out and today's schedule is complete.

Rev. Mr. Nesbit is being entertained at the various fraternity houses on the campus during the dinner hour. Here he talks informally to the members of the chapter. He is also coming in close contact with students eating at the Robert Audley Browne cafeteria and at the Hillside.

Representatives have been appointed among the student group to arrange special conferences between Rev. Mr. Nesbit and individual students during the week.

Local Boys Are Coming Along O. K.

Edmunds Cannot Speak Too
Highly Of Treatment
Given Veterans

Tom Edmunds, World war veteran who is undergoing treatment in the Walter Reed hospital, Washington, is getting along fine, according to William Burton, who has received a card from Edmunds. On Tuesday night the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, sent a postcard shower to Tom.

The ex-service man has written to Ed Fritz of The News, stating:
"Just a few lines to let you know what kind of a place Walter Reed hospital is like. At present they have anywhere from a thousand to 1500 patients."

"There are between 300 and 400
World war veterans here at the present and more are coming in every day. This sure is a wonderful hospital and they give wonderful treatment and they serve very good food.
The boys seem satisfied."

"The personnel is about 600 men and about 200 officers and the same number of nurses, so in all there are about 2500 here, so you can see this is a big place."

"The doctors and the nurses are wonderful to the men and any World war veteran that comes here for treatment cannot say that Uncle Sam does not treat them right."

"I am better satisfied here than I would be in a civilian hospital. At present there are three New Castle boys here, Carl Hanna of Boyles avenue Tom Reese of Blaine street and myself."

"They are getting along fine and as for myself I am getting along O.
K. considering the length of time I have been here. All the boys are kept well posted as to what goes on in New Castle as they get the New Castle News daily."

Edmunds sends his regards to all his friends.

Big Roundup Of "Y" Boys' Department Attracts Scores

Scores of boys from the Y. M. C.
A. neighborhood clubs attended the

The meeting opened with a supper in the association banquet hall.

gave a brief talk on the advantages of the Fred L. Rentz boys' camp, for which registration has recently started. A gym class and a period in the pool completed the evening of fun.

The list of boys who passed the various merits of the individual neighborhood clubs were announced.

Edward Gretall, who is known for his wit and humor amused the boys with his large fund of stories.

The largest delegation at the roundup was from Hillsville. About 125 were present.

Youth Shoots His Way Out Of Jail, Two Are Wounded

Illinois Poses Take Up Hunt
For Escaped Prisoner
With Gun

(International News Service)
PLANO, Ill., Feb. 26.—Poses of officers and citizens today were conducting a widespread manhunt for Audre Seamon, 20 year old youth who last night shot his way to freedom from the county jail here, probably fatally wounding Marshal Lyle Selper and seriously wounding Marshal Clifford Abel.

The youth escaped in his automobile which had been parked outside the jail.

Aroused by the shooting, citizens of the town hurriedly organized searching parties. Seamon was taken in custody at the request of Rockford, Ill., authorities who said they wanted the youth for a robbery.

Seamon was being led through the cell room door when he suddenly drew a revolver and shot the two officers.

Extortionists Foiled In Bank

Chicago Man Escapes Extortion
Payment By Clever Work
Of Bank Teller

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Threatened with death in a crematory by a gang of kidnapers who tried to extort $5,000 from him, Harry Kaplan, wealthy retired manufacturer, today owed his escape to the shrewdness of a bank teller who sensed Kaplan's predicament when he attempted to draw the extortion money.

Covered by concealed weapons in the pockets of his kidnapers, Kaplan made his way to the bank teller's window, sensing that something was amiss, the teller pressed an electric alarm instead of handing over the cash from Kaplan's account. Before bank police could reach them the extortionists escaped.

The victim said he had been seized by three men and held captive for two days. The trio took him to an abandoned brewery and there showed him some vats and boilers and threatened to cremate him there if he didn't pay them $10,000, he told police. Kaplan was scheduled to appear yesterday as the complaining witness in a holdup.

Miss Emma Gibbons, of Haus avenue in New Castle was also a guest at the home. Miss Miller and Miss Faulkenberg, gave an entertainment at the First Baptist church in New Castle in the morning and at Sharon at night. They are both graduates of the Missionary Training School in Philadelphia and are sent out to advertise the school. They are both gifted speakers and singers, and Miss Miller plays a guitar. They both have a pleasing personality, and left a most favorable impression of the school which they represent. Miss Miller's parents live in Germany, and Miss Faulkenberg was born in Russia, of German parents who live now in Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morrow, of Gardner entertained their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. ## How to Relieve Catarrhal Deafness Or Head Noises.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be quickly overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's or your druggist a 1 oz. bottle of Parnint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucous dripping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. If nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh, there must be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple home treatment.

IN NEW CASTLE

Probably one of the greatest temperance movements that ever struck this country was that fostered by the late Francis Murphy. And New Castle shared very largely in the movement for this great temperance leader conducted meetings here in the old White Hall, now the Central Presbyterian church.

This was fifty-one years ago and there are those in New Castle who remember those meetings and their results. Great throngs attended the meetings and thousands of residents of this district signed the pledge at that time and one of the interesting facts was that most of them kept them.

The interest in this movement continued unabated for two years and groups from this city carried the movement into the outlying districts, going by sleigh in the winter and by buggy in the summer to conduct meetings, which resulted in many persons taking the pledge.

Do You Feel Worn Out At Five o'Clock?

Even if you eat three big meals every day you may be starving for vitamins! The food you eat just doesn't supply enough of them. That's why you get worn out. That's why you feel tired and lifeless so much of the time.

For years doctors have been meeting this condition by prescribing cod liver oil. But many people can't take it. The nasty oily taste upsets them. For these people there is a remarkable new way to take cod liver oil, easily, pleasantly and tastelessly. McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are made from the vitamins of the finest Norway cod liver oil. In them you get everything that cod liver oil can give you. ## Chief Of Police Has Close Call As Negro Shoots

LARGE NUMBER AID IN NEGRO'S CAPTURE

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—Accused of snatching a police chief's revolver from the holster and staging a running gun battle before he was captured, Thaddeus Bell, 25, Negro, was to be given a hearing today before Justice of the Peace William Frenz of West View.

William D. Kaesmeier, chief of police of West View, miraculously escaped being wounded as the fleeing Negro poured out the contents of the officer's revolver, eye witnesses said.

Michael Ali, a West View contractor, summoned Kaesmeier to his home, telling him that Bell had attempted to stab him after the Negro complained that a dog had chased him.

Bell, according to Kaesmeier, attempted to flee at the approach of the chief, but was captured and taken to the Ali home for identification.

Grapples With Chief.
The Negro then attempted to escape again, Kaesmeier said, but was felled when the officer discharged his tear-gun mace. As the chief leaned over Bell to assist him to his feet, the latter was said to have removed Kaesmeier's revolver and a few seconds later fired four shots which passed between the right arm and body of the officer.

As Bell fled he was said by Kaesmeier to have turned about several times and shot at his pursuers which grew steadily in number as other residents of West View joined the chase.

Cornered behind a garage, Bell was ordered to surrender by Patrolman Regis Whalen of West View, who had the Negro covered with a revolver. Bell left his hiding place, but instead of surrendering attempted to grapple with Kaesmeier and secure possession of a shot gun which the chief had borrowed to use in the capture.

With the aid of other officers, Kaesmeier subdued the Negro and lodged him in the police station pending a hearing.

Few Disturbances Throughout State

International Unemployment
Day Observed On Wednesday

(International News Service)
Any apprehension which may have existed in Pennsylvania over the advent of "International Unemployment Day" was dispelled today when a checkup by International News Service revealed only sporadic disturbances in isolated districts marked communistic observances yesterday.

Pittsburgh experienced an unexpected demonstration which, while spectacular, was not serious. Twenty-eight persons, four of them women, were to be arraigned in police court today for alleged participation in an unemployment demonstration.

The arrests were made after nearly a hundred policemen, led by Superintendent Peter P. Walsh, dispersed a mob at the Pennsylvania railroad station. A demonstration scheduled to take place last night in Ambridge broke up in haste when someone tossed a "bomb" into the gathering. The bomb, however, was of the tear gas variety.

Throughout central Pennsylvania "International Unemployment Day" brought but one demonstration by the jobless.

At Pottsville 500 west end miners marched on the Schuylkill county courthouse to demand that they be given promises of work on the new building now being constructed.

The demonstrators were met at the outskirts of the city by police, who dispersed them without trouble. Most of the marchers returned to their homes after a rather fruitless argument with officers that they be permitted to proceed to the courthouse to demand work.

Staunchly defending shelter for homeless and jobless men against the verbal attacks of a delegation representing themselves as "hunger marchers", Mayor Harry A. Mackey revealed that he had disguised himself as a hungry, homeless and jobless man and visited the shelter, eating with the inmates three different times in an effort to check up on the treatment and food given the hungry and homeless.

The food, service at the shelter and sleeping facilities were excellent, the mayor asserted. His disclosures came after a committee of

Major Vale Is Called Today By Senate Probers

Former Chief Of Bureau Of Public Convenience Goes Before Inquiry Board

OUTLINES WHAT CHANGES BE MADE

Would Give Commission Full Authority Over Issuance Of Securities

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Feb. 26.—Major E. M. Vale, formerly chief of the bureau of public convenience of the public service commission today outlined to the Senate committee examining the operation of that body changes in the existing act, which he believes the present session of the legislature should authorize.

The chief recommendation made by Vale was an amendment to the act which would give the commission full authority over the issuance of securities by public utility companies. Whether or not the commission has such power now has been recently a much debated question.

Governor Pinchot asserts the commission has such power, but members construe the act differently.

Must File Notices
Major Vale said that utility companies are required merely to file notice of what securities they intend to issue, but no power in the state can fix the amount.

Major Vale also charged that under the administrative code as passed during the former Pinchot regime, an unfriendly chief executive could wreck the commission.

Pointing out that the commission members have now no control over the appointment of its personnel or the filing of salaries, Major Vale claimed that jobs are "often retailed to pay political debts." Under that plan, he continued, it is impossible to get able workers or to obtain for them adequate salaries.

Another change which Major Vale suggested was an amendment which would permit the commission to suspend proposed increased rates of utility companies for at least six months.

When members of the committee reminded him that cases often drag before the commission for several years, Major Vale blamed that condition on dilatory tactics of counsel for both sides and lack of sufficient personnel on the commission staff.

Beamish Called
Examination of Major Vale was interrupted while Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth and for a short time during the former Pinchot administration a member of the commission, was called to the witness stand.

Beamish told the committee that as secretary of the commonwealth he was not subject to the subpoena of a Senate committee but was glad to waive the constitutional immunity of his office.

Beamish was allowed to tell, almost without interruption of his short experience on the commission. The commission, he asserted, was not using all of its powers of investigation and control with which it was invested.

As an example he spoke of the fraud practiced by bus companies which pretended to operate in interstate traffic but really gave intrastate service. He told of his own efforts to stop the practice and of some of the results obtained.

Stunning Surprise
The employment of Judge C. C. McChord, to make a study of the P. R. T. situation in Philadelphia Beamish called "a stunning surprise" and "a bolt from the blue" so far as he was concerned.

Detailing the circumstances under which Chairman W. D. B. Ainey announced the McChord appointment, Beamish said he had been given no intimation of the commission's proposed action and that the move had been made "without authority."

Although he termed "the whole thing in the nature of a frame-up" he did not question the minutes of the commission's meeting which showed that he had seconded the motion of Commissioner Benn for the McChord appointment.

C. J. Hepburn, counsel for the committee, said he did not see how a commissioner who felt that a "frameup" was being perpetrated could aid by his vote.

With some difficulty Beamish explained that perhaps he should have used "pre-arrangement" instead of a frame-up and that he felt then the proposed survey might, after all, be beneficial to the people of Philadelphia.

Too Much Opposition
Chairman Ainey, he said, had pictured McChord as a "real progressive" and a "friend of Governor Pinchot" and that he knew nothing concrete which reflected on the character of Judge McChord.

Even before he had ceased to be a commissioner, Beamish asserted, he had become convinced of his inability to accomplish anything in Philadelphia "because of the opposition of the Pennsylvania railroad."

Previously he had told of his efforts to have a union bus terminal established in Philadelphia, and that he had been told by E. B. Temple, a vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad that his company "wouldn't stand for it" and that the "Beamish" was "butting his head against a stone wall."

Questioning of Beamish was marked by another sharp interchange between Hepburn and W. A. Gray when the former referred to the latter as "the governor's counsel." Gray said he was "counsel for the committee" objecting to the Hepburn designation.

Before leaving the stand, questioned by Senator McClure as to his knowledge of the truth of charges which have been made against Commissioner Benn, Beamish was emphatic in saying he knew nothing which would reflect on his character or ability.

He was given an opportunity to discuss any charges he had heard against the commission but refused to depart from questions which were directed to him.

When Vale was recalled to the stand he was asked to give his own estimate of each member of the commission.

He termed Chairman Ainey a "Christian Gentleman" and "a strong man when strong men were needed." One by one he told of the ability and integrity of the commissioners, as he had seen them, in his long service.

The committee adjourned at noon for lunch.

Miniature World Of Water Drop Copied In Glass For Exhibition

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—A miniature world, very much like our own but so small that it contains within a cubic half-inch of water prototypes of most of the living wonders of the earth, has been revealed by Dr. Roy Waldo Miner, curator of lower vertebrates of the American Museum of Natural History.

Ordinarily man could not see this world without the aid of powerful microscope lens, but Dr. Miner has made it possible to view its wonders with the naked eye. He has constructed a reproduction which enlarges the original, cubically, one million times. It is known as the Rotifer Group and is on exhibition at the museum of which he is a curator.

The original, a part of the bottom of an ordinary pond and about the size of a thumb-nail has been reproduced in complete detail in a great glass exhibit measuring more than four feet across.

The result of the magnification gives the tiny bit of water the appearance of a great jungle. In it millions of living creatures of a million different shapes and sizes hurry about with great activity.

Among them are carnivorous animals who set intricate snares for their prey, predatory beings who live by attaching themselves to others, and busy little creatures who work with ant-like activity to build themselves elaborate crystal palaces.

The plant life is there too, modelled very delicately in glass. The blown and sculptured glass is colored to reproduce the originals exactly.

Harmony Among Republicans In House Weakens

Resort To Extraordinary Measures To Avert Split Over Oil Tariff

PARTY CAUCUS CALLED TONIGHT

Special Committee Hopes To Arrange Compromise Satisfactory To All

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Republican harmony in the House today was threatened with the prospect of being "boiled in oil" as leaders resorted to extraordinary measures to avert a wide-open party split over oil tariff and embargo demands.

While a special Republican committee named by Speaker Longworth was toiling in an effort to find a compromise to satisfy both the independent oil producers and the consuming East, a canvass was made to enlist 60 oil state members in a boycott of the Republican caucus slated for tonight.

The House, overwhelmingly Republican, and usually ready to do the bidding of the triumvirate composed of Speaker Nicholas Longworth, Republican floor leader Tilson and Chairman Snell of the rules committee, presented a picture of utter disorganization.

Caucus Is Called
The party caucus was called to renominate Speaker Longworth for that post in the next Congress, which, on the basis of the election of last November, is Republican only by a hair-trigger majority.

With about 14 western progressives refusing to attend because they demand assurance of a liberalization of rules before they will commit themselves on party organization, the oil situation put new troubles on the shoulders of the party leaders.

The special oil committee is composed of Chairman Hawley (R) of Oregon, Chairman of the Ways and Means committee; Representatives Bacharach (R) of New Jersey and Treadway (R) of Massachusetts, committee members; Representative Nelson (R) of Maine, representing consumers, and Representative Hoch (R) of Kansas, speaking for independent oil producers.

After obtaining detailed information of imports of foreign oil from experts of the tariff commission and bureau of mines, the committee resumed its session today in an effort to evolve a bill which can pass the House this week.

Consider Proposal
The committee is considering a proposal that importation of a portion of the annual American crude oil output be permitted duty free. The plan, it was explained, is to put the foreign producers on the same restricted basis as American producers.

Representative Nelson insists nothing shall be done to prevent New England factories from obtaining cheap fuel oil from Venezuela and other foreign countries.

"The independent producers say the actual imports of foreign oil do not cause trouble, but it is the threat of heavier imports that beats down the price," said Nelson. "The suggestion has been made that present imports of crude oil, approximately, be permitted to continue and that imports above that amount take a tariff."

Nearly 60 Republicans from New England had declared war upon any oil tariff plan, and unless a new plan is found they will fight it as a party program. Threats have likewise been made by them to desert the Republican party organization.

over to local police. Arraigned before Judge E. E. Kiefer, after he had returned to normal, the court fined him $15 and escorted him to a bank where the balance of his money was deposited.

PORTERSVILLE

EVER READY CLASS

About 25 young ladies of the "Ever Ready" S. S. class of the Portersville Presbyterian church gathered on Tuesday evening February 24 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kennedy to turn their thoughts back to when they were eight to ten years of age. They came dressed in little ruffled gowns with hair in curl.

Mrs. John Breneman wearing a little pink and white romper suit and a large red ribbon on her short bobbed hair made all think of that poem that runs something like this, "Turn backward, turn backward, oh time in thy flight and make me a child again just for tonight."

The evening was spent in listening to a short program carried out in child fashion; playing children's games and pulling taffy. The program consisted of a recitation by Melissa Badger entitled, "My Mother's Darling," "Little Johnny Green" recited by Margaret Lintz pleased the audience. A duet, "In Bashful Town," was rendered by Mrs. Brook-houser and Mrs. Breneman. "I Am a Little Dutchman" was presented by Helen Alben. "Mary had a Little Lamb" was sung by Bernice Cleland, followed by "Humpty Dumpty" given by Dorothy Kennedy. "When I Grow Up" was presented by Pauline Lintz followed by "The Little Bown Hen" by Ruth Cleland.

"Little Orphan Annie" was recited by Mrs. Brookhouser and several other verses and songs by others present. After the program the little girls stepped in the kitchen and like grown ups made molasses taffy, and served hot coffee, sandwiches, and pickles.

Those present were: Helen Alben, Ruth Ladner, Dorothy Ladner, Ruth Cleland, Bernice Cleland, Melissa Badger, Anna and Virginia Suckel, Mary Hartman, Ethel Shields, Ida Morgan, Gladys Kennedy, Margaret Lintz, Pauline Lintz, Dorothy Kennedy, Maude Neiper, Janet Neiper, Ethel Jones, Mrs. Lillian Brookhouser, Mrs. Mae Garner, Mrs. Robert Kennedy, Mrs. John Breneman, Mrs. Nora Wehn, Mrs. Grace Backley, Mrs. Catherine Jones and Mrs. Mae Newton.

Block Withdraws From Bidding For New York World

Chain Publisher Withdraws Bid For New York Evening World, Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Paul Block, publisher of a nationwide chain of newspapers, today withdrew as a bidder for the New York World properties. He announced his withdrawal shortly before surrogate James A. Foley was to hand down his decision as to whether the trustees of the estate of the late Joseph Pulitzer would be permitted to sell the properties.

"I have withdrawn as a bidder for the New York World properties," Mr. Block said, "about seven or eight months ago I negotiated with Mr. Herbert Pulitzer and his brother, Mr. Joseph Pulitzer regarding the sale of their papers but I found they were only interested in selling the morning and Sunday World and not the Evening World.

"As I was not interested in such a sale the negotiations were dropped. About a week ago while I was in the West I received word that all three of the newspapers were now to be sold. I telephoned my attorney, Max Steuer to make a bid for me.

"Upon my return Wednesday afternoon I found that my friend Roy Howard, of the Scripps-Howard newspapers was not only a bidder but as I understood it, virtually had closed a contract with the trustees. I also found the employees of the World were endeavoring to purchase the properties. As I did not wish to stand in the way of either of these parties, I have withdrawn as a bidder."

CLIMATE HERE IS HELP TO CATARRH

Experts Say Three In Every Five People Suffer From This Disease

Experts on catarrh say the climate of this part of the country is one of the chief reasons why catarrh is so prevalent here.

Experts state that catarrh is so prevalent in this section that as many as three out of every five people suffer from the disease and its distressing symptoms, which are dripping into the throat of a poisonous offensive substance, a great deal of which is swallowed and enters the stomach, discharges from the nose of large quantities of this same substance, points in the head, huskiness, dryness and soreness of nasal passages and throat, weak, watery eyes and the like.

World's Tonic offers catarrh sufferers something they have long needed, that is, a systematic treatment to help fight catarrh. It helps relieve almost at once the distress of catarrh in the nose and throat and at the same time helps fight the disease within the system, where it originates, and is designed to help rid the system of catarrh, also chronic constipation, liver, kidney, bladder and bowel trouble. It has brought astonishing results in many cases. World's Tonic, the new systematic treatment that is doing so much good in New Castle and vicinity, is sold by Eckerss, McKee's, Paisley, Smith's and all other good druggists. (A-154)

Old St. Joseph's Church Tower Is Being Reshingled

The ancient tower of St. Joseph's church, South Jefferson and Lawrence streets, is being reshingled today. Workmen under the direction of Carl Becker, New Castle steeplejack, were scaling the steep sides of the tower this morning, prying loose old weather-beaten shingles that have served their purpose for countless years.

Rev. Joseph A. Doerr said today the church program calls for reshingling only. Interior remodeling of the church was ended early in the fall.

Class Graduates In Teacher Training

For many weeks a class of young women of the Croton Avenue Methodist church has been taking the teachers' training course, "Life in the Making," which is the recognized text book of the Methodist Episcopal church, under the tutelage of Miss Eve B. Nicklin, deaconess of the church.

There was an examination held Wednesday in the church and the students taking this were Mary Scott, Evelyn McClelland, Jeannine Shuler, Beryl Emery, Marian White and Alma Wright. Their papers were forwarded to the central office of the Methodist board of education at Chicago and will be marked from there.

Friday afternoon there will be another examination in the church, at which time Miss Nicklin's class will number about 20.

Further Protest Against Harmony

Beaver Valley Service Company Opposes Grant To Harmony Co.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—Calling patrons to the stand to testify concerning the service it now renders, the Beaver Valley Service company today filed further protests with the public service commission against the granting of a certificate to the Harmony Short Line Motor Transportation company to operate between Pittsburgh and New Castle.

Robert N. Johnson of Beaver Falls, told Examiner W. E. Best that the present service of the Beaver Valley company used by the Commercial Printing company, of which he is shipper, is adequate between Pittsburgh and Beaver Falls.

No need for additional service was necessary, according to William Taylor, district auditor of the White Motor company, who testified he changed to the protesting service from previous use of the Harmony street car service.

Representing the D. Mussof Shoe Co. and National Shoe stores with branches in Beaver Falls, Abe Herman gave substantially the same testimony and added that in his opinion there was not sufficient additional business to warrant the establishment of a second line.

Claiming that a second line would be beneficial only if it could provide quicker deliveries than those of the Beaver Valley company, Albert Groll, shipper for the Parke Davis company, likewise voiced his approval of the service of the protesting company.

Frank Salvatore, president of the Beaver company, described the special emergency service which his company has established. When emergency shipments are necessary for Beaver Falls they are placed on the delivery truck which is routed to Ambridge and then delivered to Beaver Falls from there. The president testified his company made two daily trips to Ambridge with its trucks and hence provided one-day delivery service on rush shipments.

Fred Hustitt, shipper for the General Electric Supply company, testified the majority of this company's customers specified delivery by the Beaver Valley company. He added that he would be willing to give the new service "a trial" if his customers so demanded.

C. C. Miller, shipper for the Firestone Tire & Rubber company, informed the commission he would make use of the new service only in the event that the trucks came to the door of the factory branch in the east end, five miles from the downtown section, as the Beaver Valley company now does.

The applicant company asked permission to deliver freight, express and merchandise between Pittsburgh and New Castle by way of Millvale, Babcock boulevard, Keown, Wexford, Warrendale, Zelenople, Ellwood City, Beaver Falls and Koppel.

Manhattans Win By Large Score

Pittsburgh Team Is Trounced
By Score Of 40-27 On Wednesday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 26.—Due to the inability of the Schneiders of the West Penn league to appear because of participating in an A. A. U. tourney, the North Side Buicks of Pittsburgh had been secured in the last moment to fill the gap for the game here last night. The Ellwood City Manhattans gave the invaders a sound trouncing, 40-27, in the Shelby auditorium last night.

It was evident that the local cagers were the superiors at all times. Lewis and Lloyd were running amuck in the contest, the former collecting eight baskets and the latter five and most of them in the second half.

The Manhattans took an early lead of 10-0 at the end of the initial period but matters were deadlocked 10-10 at half-way as the invaders made a last minute spurt and held the Ellwood boys scoreless while they collected four points. In the ensuing period the home team began to have its offense in full working order as they took the lead 23-15 and in the closing stanza amassed 17 points to 12 for the visitors; final score, 40-27 for the Manhattans.

The summary:
Ellwood City 40 Buicks 27
Lewis ..... F ..... Lowry

Ellwood Merchants Win Fourth Game

Take Contest From New Castle Team Last Night
32 To 27

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 26.—The Ellwood City Merchants are again on the right road as they defeated the New Castle Dry Goods Cagers in a fine contest in the Shelby auditorium last night with a score of 32-27. This makes the fourth straight for the locals since their last defeat not so long ago.

The game was closely contested throughout. The score was deadlocked at 4 all in the initial period. In the ensuing period the locals began to launch their offensive which gave them a 14-0 lead at half-way. The invaders had made a rally in the third quarter and had outscored the Ellwood tossers 13-11 but it was insufficient to place them in the lead, the score being 25-19 for the home team. The visitors bested the Ellwood boys in the final stanza 8-7 but their rally had come too late and the Ellwood Merchants took the game by a 32-27 score.

The lineup:
Ellwood 32 New Castle 27
Friedhoff ..... F ..... Johnson
King ..... F ..... Franklin
Ursu ..... C ..... Clark
Justine ..... G ..... Wallace
Dunn ..... G ..... Pauline Substitutions: Ellwood: Jones for King, Segedoff for Justine, Lawrence for Dunn. New Castle: Summers for Johnson.

including the Series priced from $1025 to $1095 f.o.b. Flint, Mich.

● The Syncro-Mesh Transmission adds greatly to the safety of Buick travel. Going down long hills or on icy pavements, when it becomes necessary to slow down—one can shift instantly into second without effort or clash, and the engine is thus used as a brake, providing maximum control at all times.

● The Syncro-Mesh Transmission brings safety and silence to gear-shifting. Gears can be shifted smoothly and silently from first to second, second to high, and from high back to second, always easily, always without clash. . . . Quick and easy shifting provides greater control and safety.

● The Syncro-Mesh Transmission helps to give wings to Buick at the traffic light. Second speed gears are quiet and smooth and the car can be accelerated up to 45 miles plus in this gear, then quickly and quietly into high, thus giving remarkably fast getaway.

● The Syncro-Mesh Transmission makes every driver an expert in gear-shifting. So perfectly are the gears synchronized, so easily do they operate, that shifting is a joy instead of a task. Drive a Buick and know the joy of expert shifting to all gears—quick, quiet, effortless and safe.

Kansas School Conducts Class In Home Problems

Young Students Learn Courtesy
In The Home And Other Matters

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 26.—Dissenters to the theory that American home life is rapidly disappearing will find material for debate in the sixth grade class rooms of the Kansas City public schools.

Miss Anna E. Hussey, director of homemaking operates her classes on the principle that the 13-year-old girls have a share in the home and family life. The more they put into it the greater happiness they derive, aside from the benefits to other members of the family, Miss Hussey holds.

In her home economics classes she teaches courtesy, how best to spend spare time, how to lighten mother's work, how to entertain the younger children and how to prepare foods.

The courtesy classes have aroused the most enthusiasm, Miss Hussey said. With an eye to debutante days, the girls are eager to know what to do when receiving and entertaining friends.

The project method was brought into play, and various social situations were unraveled in approved form. Young daughter is hostess of the occasion, and she uses all the little tricks that contribute to the word "charming."

Dispute On Over Printing Of Bible

ALL Manner Of Interests Are Involved In Present Controversy

Village Of Stone Age Is Unearthed

LONDON, Feb. 26.—A dispute over the right to print a revised version of the Bible has arisen, according to The Daily Express, owing to the objection of three "approved" printers who are contesting the right of other companies to offer the book for sale. All manner of interests are involved, the newspaper asserts, including the Crown owners' copyright and various religious societies.

The three printers who claim the sole right to issue the Bible in Britain are the Cambridge University Press, the Oxford University Press and Eyre, Spottiswoode, Ltd. Reference is to be made to the courts in an endeavor to force other printers to destroy their copies.

The British Foreign Bible Society, the largest publishers of Bibles in the world, is not affected by the controversy, as it prints from sheets supplied by the approved printers.

Ernest Straker and S. E. Winbolt, leading authorities on the Stone Age, contend the relics are undoubtedly of that period. British Museum and other experts are coming to inspect the site.

Mr. Cheney began excavating after noticing that the smoothness of the skyline at the top of a field was interrupted by an almost imperceptible rising which suggested a prehistoric tomb. Excavations led to the discovery. Fragments of oak, believed to be the remains of the walls of a pit dwelling, also were found.

High School To Present Comedy
The senior high school has announced its next school play for Friday evening, March 6. Miss Hartsuff has chosen a modern comedy in which Billie Burke played the title role when the New Yorkers saw the premiere performance at the Lyceum Theatre some years ago. This latest choice of the dramatics department at the senior high school is Catherine Chisholm Cushman's "Jerry."

Miss Harriet Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Kline of East Wallace Ave., has been cast for Jerry. Miss Kline represents some of the more recent talent that the dramatics department has been successful in developing since the beginning of the year. She appeared opposite Seth Morrow in the Christmas play, "The Fool," presented to the high school audience during an assembly period. "Jerry" is a very lively young lady whose eventful career among a household of breathless adults furnishes three acts of laughter. Miss Kline's graceful stage presence, natural charm of manner and native fineness promise to "Jerry" an interpretation which will bear a favorable comparison with that of Miss Burke in the same role.

INCOME TAX FACTS

NO. 22
With the number of automobile owners registering in the millions, the question of deductions and operation of a car frequently is addressed to the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The purchase price of an automobile, whether it be used solely for business or solely for pleasure, can not be deducted from gross income in the making of an income-tax return. If used for business, it is a capital expenditure. If used for pleasure, it is a personal expenditure—both deductions being expressly prohibited by the revenue act.

However, there are several allowable deductions in connection with the maintenance and operation of an automobile, used either for business or pleasure. If the car is used exclusively for business purposes there may be deducted the entire cost of maintenance, repairs, oil, tires, rent for garage, and other necessary expenses connected with operation and upkeep. Depreciation, based on the cost of the car and its estimated useful life, also is a deductible item. Where a business car is exchanged for another car, any loss sustained in the transaction may be claimed as a deduction. To illustrate if a truck having an estimated life of four years and which cost $1,200 was traded at the end of three years for a new truck and an allowance of $100 was made for the old truck, the allowable deduction would be $200, computed as follows: Depreciation for three years, $900; allowance received, $100; loss sustained, $200.

The cost of the operator's permit, license fees, and State or local taxes imposed on the ownership of a car—sometimes referred to as a personal property tax—also may be deducted.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Happy Child Holds Self Correctly

Bodily Or Mental Ills May Be Cause Of Slouching

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

You and I have been guilty of saying to the child of five or of fifteen, "Sit up" or, "Don't stand that way." It made us feel better to issue such commands. It relieved our conscience, suggesting to us we had done our duty to the child. Incidentally, it reminded us of our power and importance. The trouble is we have had an unfeeling conscience and a feeble-minded sense of power.

You and I may keep on "hollering our heads off" at our children to improve their posture, with no result except to make their posture worse and lessen their respect for us.

When the toddler or adolescent feels well and comfortable and full of vim, when he is happy, when the world looks bright and promising to him, and when he feels awareness of his personality as a worthy one among his family and his comrades, he holds up his head, stiffens up his spine, pulls his stomach in, and practically always sits and stands and walks erect.

When we nag at him continuously about anything, we create in him an uncomfortable attitude, make him feel less worthwhile, less optimistic toward himself and toward the world, and, therefore, more inclined to slouch.

Any child who is not tip-top physically, who is not well nourished, who is underweight, who meets continuous discouragements in his work or play, who has many emotional conflicts, and is forever being supervised and disciplined, almost surely has bad posture. Bad posture is one of the first signs of malnourishment or nervousness or bad adjustment to his family and playmates.

When, therefore, you find your child habitually sitting, standing, walking slouchily, say nothing to him about posture. First go with him to your physician to make sure about his physical welfare. This guaranteed, study his habits and emotional expressions. See that you avoid all unnecessary annoyances to him, and work out ways of helping him acquire for happiness through more successes in relation to his home conduct, his work at school and his contacts with other children. All the while keep wholly quiet about posture, except to compliment him for all evidence of good form. Avoid such destructive comments as "Why don't you always stand that way?" or "I wish you would learn to walk and stand as Martha does."

Said a psychologist to me the other day: "A year ago I found myself suggesting to my adolescent boy that he should try to keep his head and shoulders up. I guess I repeated the suggestion several times. Always my remarks seemed merely to annoy him."

"In the meanwhile numerous good things have come his way. He has been selected in his school as student director of intra-mural sports, elected to High 'Y' and to the National Honor Society, and has become the captain of his church basketball team."

"What a change has come to him! I wish I might emulate his posture now. So far as I can figure out, the difference has been wholly psychological."

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—According to an observant captain of detectives, at least 50,000 men and women, mentally deranged, daily walk the streets of New York.

Brain specialists agree that because law and public practice have lagged behind medicine in the regulation of insanity, there are many more mentally deranged persons outside of insane hospitals than in such institutions.

And most of them are to be found serving on juries. That's the only charitable theory that can be advanced to explain some of the recent Tammany Town verdicts by juries in cases where accused city officials were involved.

GUARD THE LAMBS.

Terror stalks among the Wolves of Wall Street following announcement of the appointment of Miss Dorothy Smith to a post in the attorney general's office. Miss Smith's job will be to discourage, dissuade, grumble and otherwise discomfit the Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingfords who exploit their unwary brothers in p'ony stock deals.

Hundreds of millions of dollars, every year, are coaxed from the pockets of greedy fools by dealers in "guilt-edge" securities. It's worse than useless, authorities have found, to try to safeguard a sap bent upon being trimmed. So the next thing is being tried—putting the stock racketeer out of business.

Dorothy Smith, who is president of Marymount College Alumnae Association, in accepting her new post, relinquishes a large and lucrative private law practice. She takes up her labors in the attorney general's office thoroughly equipped by temperament and training.

It all happened on the same day: A jury held that if a woman steps on a cat's tail in a grocery store, the owner of the cat could not be blamed or held liable if the cat bit the woman.

A spectator succumbed to a stroke while watching a chess tournament. And "Kid" Priestley, English author visiting America, told of encountering under copies of "Main Street" on library tables in New York homes—when, as a matter of fact, there were no uncopied copies of "Main Street" published.

The new Oldsmobile is quick to start—it gathers speed rapidly—and it is unusually fast on the road. This finer all-round performance is the result of several important new features which have been added to Oldsmobile's dependable engine. Chief among these is new down-draft carburetion—the source of increased power, higher speed, and faster acceleration. Also, a newly-designed crankshaft-balancer assures unusual smoothness. And a new carburetor-silencer contributes to quieter operation at all speeds.

In addition, new grace and beauty have been added to Oldsmobile's distinctive appearance. Refinements in design give special emphasis to Oldsmobile's long, low, fleet-looking lines. And smart new tailoring and appointments add to the attractiveness of the new Fisher body interiors.

State Health Head Talks About Care Of Teeth

"At a recent international convention of dentists sponsored by the Chicago Dental Society, the astounding statement was made that there is $480,000,000 worth of gold in American mouths in addition to much platinum and tremendous quantities of synthetic materials. This fact conclusively proves that Americans visit the offices of dentists, but it also well indicates that thousands upon thousands of persons do not obtain dental service soon enough," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"While the popularity of pulling teeth and replacing them with false ones has given way to more scientific methods of oral prevention, the fact remains that the average individual will wait until it hurts before visiting a dentist's office. But infections and decay of the teeth, like many systemic conditions, can exist for many months prior to the development of a consciousness that anything is wrong. It follows that instead of small cavities big ones are then found; and frequently the damage has been so great that the loss of a tooth results, or a constitutional symptom has made its appearance.

"It is quite true that there are many more pleasant experiences than sitting in a dentist's chair, but it is equally a fact that if people would display more affection for dental service than they now do, many of the experiences that they eventually are compelled to undergo at the dentist's hands would not be necessary.

"There really is nothing involved in mouth hygiene. It is or should be merely a matter of routine. Brushing the teeth three times daily, removing with dental floss particles of food that are forced between the teeth, eating sensibly so as to include natural foods and fruits, and a visit to the dentist twice yearly, practically represent the program.

"The teeth are one's best friends. But if one goes back on them they are bound to display a similar attitude. Indeed, they sometimes exact terrible physical penalties for neglect.

"Therefore, keep the gold in your pocket rather than place it in your mouth. A rational, reasonable and perfectly easy mouth hygiene routine will accomplish this result, and in addition, may save a lot of misery and ills. Don't wait until it hurts."

Early New Castle Happenings
As Newspaper Described Them

Interesting to residents young and old are contents which a time-worn February 6, 1887 copy of the "Lawrence Journal," local publication of gone days, uncovered by Mrs. E. M. Fisher, East Washington street, contains.

Yellowed only a little and crisp as ever was, the 64-year-old news sheet has borne up well under the pressing forces of nearly a generation. The news writing quality is excellent and the printing itself is of the best.

Extra! Massacre!

Under a one-column caption "News Items" were carried the following foreign and local dispatches:

From Junction City, Kan., came word of a horrible Indian massacre at Salina, 55 miles away. "The white men believe the Indians mean war," the closing line read.

One reference tells of the new-type, luxurious "vel" in which officers and directors of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad have built purposely for their use, something unusual in these days. In lengthy detail it describes the magnificently furnished coach.

A local item, one with a local significance, occupied almost the entire front page. It quoted verbatim a senate address of the late Dr. Robert Audley Browne, then state senator from Lawrence county. It dealt with "Constitutional Amendments."

J. H. Stevenson was the president of the New Castle Library association at the time an inserted notice proclaiming to the board that a meeting would be held shortly in the office of J. Smith Lushane.

The Lawrence Foundry and Machine Shop, then a flourishing firm, was situated on Mercer street, "south of the canal."

An out-of-town message carried a complaint that the Ohio State penitentiary at Columbus was too crowded. At the time 925 convicts were being quarantined. It still remains quite a crowl.

Ice Gorge Trouble
Another news note with a local touch narrated how a gorge of ice near "Mahoning" (now the Seventh Ward) had inundated thousands of acres in the valley with water. Railroad service was threatened.

GOOD FISHING.
(International News Service)
HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 26.—

Trout fishermen in Connecticut took 150,000 trout from the state's streams in 1930, according to the annual report of the state fish and game commission. Patrolmen checked 24,874 persons on streams during the trout fishing season, and found 2,250 boys and girls under 16 who are not required to have licenses.

Martin's Counsel Continues Battle

Attorney S. S. Rosenberg Resumes Fight To Have "Hymie" Returned

PLANS TO FILE HABEAS CORPUS

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—Fighting for his client with every legal weapon at his command, Attorney S. S. Rosenberg, counsel for "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, held in Cleveland for the murder of former Councilman William Potter, announced today that he will file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the Cleveland courts to have Martin returned to Allegheny county.

This move is planned as a result of Rosenberg's failure to obtain an order in common pleas court directing District Attorney Andrew T. Park to seek the return of Martin by a habeas corpus action in the federal court in Cleveland.

Martin was whisked away from the courtroom of Judge Joseph Stadfeldt here by Cleveland authorities following a hearing on February 18 when the judge stated that he would turn the wanted man over to Cleveland police. But Martin was hustled from the court before the order had been signed by the judge. Rosenberg's petition to have Park act to bring Martin back was refused yesterday after conference in the jurist's chambers. It was the court's contention that the power of District Attorney Park did not extend to Ohio to procure such a writ as Rosenberg desired.

Administration Is Charged With Holding Up Work

Claims Highway Construction Program Should Be Under Way In State

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 26.—Charges of neglect in the matter of starting the state highway program for the coming year, are brought against the administration by Nathan K. Smith of this city.

While Mr. Smith is unable to state how much money is available for road construction work in Pennsylvania, he feels that it would run into millions, and states that politics is back of the procrastination.

The manner in which road contracts are awarded is explained by Mr. Smith as follows:

"Every few weeks, bids are asked of various contractors for the construction of roads scattered throughout the state, each bid being for a portion of a road, varying from a minimum of about half a mile to a maximum of approximately ten miles. At these 'lettings', there are usually awarded contracts totaling about forty miles of road at an aggregate cost of around two million dollars. As soon as these contracts are awarded, which in most cases, happens with a very few days after the reading of the bids, considerable activity starts long before construction work actually begins. Construction itself, because of weather conditions, cannot usually start until about March 1, but prior to that time, the people in the building trades, those interested in supplying materials to contractors immediately get busy. They are obliged to employ additional help and much activity manifests itself."

In 1930, Mr. Smith claims there was such a letting on February 3, another February 4, and another February 14. In 1929, lettings were held on February 6 and February 7; while in 1928, there were lettings on January 22 and January 27.

This year, he charges, although the work is most needed, there has been no such letting, and as far as he knows, none is scheduled in the near future.

Alleged Auto Thief Hunted By Police

Companion Of Two Small Boys Escapes As Officer Gives Chase

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—Police in the Oakland district here today were searching for the companion of two boys, one of whom was shot in the thigh by Lieut. Narry J. Payne, after the trio abandoned an allegedly stolen automobile last night.

While driving along Craft avenue Lieut. Payne observed the trio riding in a reckless manner in another machine and immediately gave chase. On reaching the end of the street, the three occupants of the car alighted and fled down the hillside amid a hail of shots fired by the officers who commanded them to stop.

An hour later, Louis Smith, 15, appeared at Children's Hospital for treatment of a bullet in his right thigh. Questioned by police he named the other members of the trio, one of whom, allegedly, Anthony Lepinsky, 16, was arrested a short time later.

The automobile was reported stolen earlier in the evening.

GIVES PARKING HINT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 26.—Business men will have to insist on firmer enforcement of parking regulations for their own benefit, is the conclusion of the Albert Russell Erskine Bureau for Street Traffic Research in Harvard University here, after a survey of automobile parking in Kansas City recently.

"Parking has little effect upon the safety situation," said Dr. Miller McLintock, director of the Bureau, "but it is intimately connected with business, and business is almost the exclusive element requiring consideration in the matter."

New Castle Defeats Ambridge High, 25-24

LASKY, J. URAM STAR AS LOCALS CAPTURE SMASHING VICTORY

New Castle Passers Make Great Comeback To Nose Out Ambridge Quintet In Final Minutes In Opening Game Of W. P. I. A. L. Tournament; About 3,000 Frenzied Fans Witness Thrilling Contest On Wednesday; New Castle Upsets Dope By Tumbling Strong Valley Representatives; Eighteenth Straight Victory For Coach Bridenbaugh Team.

Making one of the most thrilling finishes ever made by a schoolboy quintet on the Pitt Floor, the New Castle high school basketball team amazed a crowd of about 3,000 frenzied spectators on Wednesday night when the undefeated Coach Phil Bridenbaugh machine won a smashing 25-24 victory over a strong Ambridge high quintet in the first game of the W. P. I. A. L. basketball tournament. The 18th straight victory for the Tin City eagles advanced them to the second round of the tourney.

The Lawrence county passers, although they took the floor with 17 victories on the winning side of the ledger, were regarded as likely losers, because of the inexperience of most of the team. After the game got underway it was evident that Ambridge was in for a night of hard work instead of an easy one as had been predicted. The consistent good playing of the New Castle team which never eased, earned for them a triumph over the highly touted Beaver Valley representatives.

The game was a fast one throughout and had the large gathering on edge. The winning marker that brought victory to New Castle was a foul—thanks to Andy Lasky, who despite a thunder of noise came through with the point that meant victory in the final 60 seconds of the game.

While the watch was tolling off the seconds that remained Tony Matzie that clever forward for Ambridge was fouled and made the free throw. The score stood 25-24 and the time left was short. During a scrimmage for the ball under the Ambridge basket this same Matzie managed to get an open shot at the net but blew. New Castle secured the ball and held on to it until the final whistle blew.

First Quarter Tied
Two good schoolboy quintets primed for this battle, took the floor as the starting whistle had sounded. Ambridge's cheering section of about 2,000 fans went wild when Tony Matzie tugged the first goal of the evening that placed his team two points ahead. Andy Lasky, lanky New Castle center made a pretty shot under the basket to deadlock the count.

Shortly after this Matzie made his second goal of the game on a spectacular shot from the side of the foul line. After Gutowski blew a free throw from the foul line for Ambridge, Shaffer accounted a point from the charity line to place the score at 4-3 with the big Ambridge team leading. J. Uram followed with another foul for the Tin City boys to tie the count. 4 all. Zwyatynkanich missed a foul as the first quarter ended 4-4.

The second period like the initial quarter proved fast. This chapter saw both teams getting possession of the lead several times. J. Uram gave New Castle a temporary lead when he caged a double decker from the side soon after the quarter got underway. Yous sank the ball through the hoops on a follow up shot. Zwyatynkanich placed Ambridge on the top berth again when he accounted for a field goal. He was fouled on the same play but missed the try.

Lasky tied the count again at 8-8 when he registered his second goal under the basket. Once again the Beaver Valley five too! possession of the lead when Zwyatynkanich made good a pretty one from the foul line. A minute later this same Lasky made things more interesting when he retaliated with another two pointer from the side of the Pitt court for New Castle.

Half Ends 14-11
Matzie annexed his third field goal which gave the Coach Rubenstein combination the lead again. Shaffer was fouled and made the point count as the score stood 12-11 with Ambridge on top. Matzie ac-

Young Stars To Get Chance For Davis Cup Team

Johnny Doeg, Will Not Try For Place On Davis Cup Team Is Report

By Les Conklin
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—All of America's young court stars will be given a chance to land a berth on the 1931 Davis cup squad, it was revealed today by Holcomb Ward, chairman of the Davis cup committee appointed by United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Competition will be made keener by the probability that Johnny Doeg, the national champion and No. 1 man in the national ranking, will not try out for the team. Doeg, who was married recently, plans to devote most of his time to business.

Ward said today he had heard indirectly that Doeg would play in only two or three tournaments this year and would not go abroad. It was also learned that Bryan Grant, the Atlanta youth who was ranked No. 10, had declined an invitation to compete for the team because he will be in college until the season is well under way.

No Squad Selected.

Although the squad has not been selected officially, the selection committee has made tentative plans to divide the candidates into two squads. In the opening match against Mexico City on May 1st, the United States probably will be represented by Cliff Sutter, Wilmer Allison and Sidney Wood, all of whom are located conveniently close to Mexico. Sutter is in New Orleans, Allison in Austin, Texas, and Wood is a student at the University of Arizona.

Northern players will be selected to face Canada in the Dominion of O. The other group eliminates the Mexican team, as is expected, Frank Shields and Sidney Wood of New York, Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J. and George Loti and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia are in this group, which will play against Canada and against the South American champion at Washington late in May.

"This arrangement would effort a saving in time, money and effort," Ward pointed out today. "We don't want the players to do much traveling and we want to give everybody a chance. Those who make the best showing will be selected for the inter-zone final and the challenge round against France in Europe, if the team comes through the earlier matches successfully."

Trade School Quint Defeats Aliquippa

Ben Franklin Trade school basketball team traveled to Aliquippa on Tuesday where it defeated the Aliquippa Trade school quintet by a 23-18 score.

The game as the score shows was a close tilt throughout and thrilled a big crowd. Motosko and Raskowski featured for the local Traders while Heaton was the best for the losers.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Whatta game! Thrills from the first until the last whistle and once again the Red and Black arose to the occasion and came through to register victory. The Ne-Ca-Hi won over Ambridge by one point, 25 to 24.

We don't know who sent the ice cream to the press row but we wish to register our appreciation.

The stadium had a nice crowd for the first of the elimination games and New Castle followers never lost their "pep" but kept cheering the team on every second of the game.

And there was plenty to cheer about.

Epied Dr. C. G. Jordan in Pittsburgh. He was taking things easy in a big chair at the Seventh Avenue hotel.

And then we met Ullman from Summit Hill. He's a salesman. Ullman is a friend of Jack and Jimmy Bonner, boxers of a decade ago.

Met a federal jurymen named Williamson from Somerset county and he asked about some local people.

And in a discussion with a group of boxing promoters we ventured the opinion that, if coached right, Em' Rocco can beat K. O. Christner.

That will sound strange in view of the defeat Em' received a few nights ago but not always does the best man win.

Rocco can step out with the bell, start slugging and beat Christner but to do it he will have to keep slugging every second.

To be frank, several of the promoters believe as we do.

Here's something for the prospective boxers. Before any can be signed in the future he must have a license. That is a new rule issued yesterday.

West Virginia Tops Duquesne
(International News Service)
MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 26.—West Virginia university's rangy floor brigade today held an extraordinary victory over the passers from Duquesne U. the ultimate score, after the lead fluctuated several times, being 38-35. The Mountaineers were trailing during the first half, encountering much trouble with the Dukes "revolving offense" and the count stood 17-10 against them at half time. Shifting from a zone defense to a man for man defense in the second half the Mountaineers drew even with their guests until the regulation game ended 29-29. During an exciting, rough overtime period, West Virginia outclassed the Pennsylvania five to win.

"Marsh" Fisher Ends Court Career With Geneva Game

MARSHALL FISHER

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 26.—Playing a steady, consistent brand of ball for four years so that he is missed when he is out of the games but not noticed while in the games, Marshall Fisher, former Boardman, O., high school player, ends his collegiate court career when the Titans stack up against the clever Geneva college five.

Fisher is not a flash-in-the-pan type of player. He has always been a good guard on the Titan quints, and such steadiness is not often noticed by the fans. The boy who is called "Tarzan", the fellow who looks like a Persian prayer rug—that's Fisher! And he is the popular entertainer of the court squad with his mountaineer songs and mouth-organ solos.

Fisher has missed but one foul all this year. He does not often shoot at the basket. Fisher is content to allow the other members of his own team to do the shooting, but he has a sort of ingrown penchant whatever that is, at his opponents' shooting. As a result, they seldom do. Paired with Captain Rice, Fisher gives Westminster a cnet of guards which can't be beat.

Walker Defeats Johnny Risko In Ring At Miami

Mickey Walker's Bid For Heavyweight Recognition Gains Strength

(International News Service)
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—Mickey Walker's bid for recognition in the heavyweight ranks may be no more seriously rated today but 20,000 customers who banked Madison Square garden stadium last night were willing to grade the New Jersey "bulldog" as the best all round performer in the ring after his second slashing ten round victory over Johnny Risko, Cleveland.

In this judgement they agreed with twenty four of sports critics. Walker beat Risko from bell to bell and in the ninth and tenth rounds had the Cleveland Baker on queer street. Walker won eight of ten rounds, Risko taking the fifth with the fourth even.

In the sixth Risko slashed Walker's left temple with a looping right but the injury only spurred the mid-dleweight champion to better efforts.

New Rule Issued By Ring Official

No Boxer Can Be Signed In State Unless He Has License

Promoters of boxing gathered in Pittsburgh yesterday and Commissioner H. J. Boyle informed them that no boxer can be signed for a bout in Pennsylvania unless the boxer has taken out a license.

It has been the custom to wait until the day of the bout to take out the license but under the new orders his application for a license must be recorded with the commission five days in advance of the bout.

In making application he must furnish the commission with information as to whether or not he has fought before. This will give the commission an opportunity to determine if the match arranged is good or bad.

Commissioner Boyle instructed promoters to enforce the no-smoking rule and declared no tickets could be sold for standing room.

How unfortunate that the only men who know how to solve all national problems should be kept busy entertaining the boards.

Mud Divers Want To Book Baseball Games

Mahoning Pirate Athletic association had formed plans for a strong junior team on the baseball field this spring and the team will be known as the Cherry Street Mud Divers. Although the association members believe it is early to talk baseball, nevertheless they want to arrange a schedule starting April 1. Managers can call 2150-M to arrange games.

Wittenberg Tops Presidents 36-19

(International News Service)
SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 26.—Wittenberg's entertainment for the visiting W. & J. passers last night was a whirlwind attack on the floor that sent their opponents down to a merciless defeat, 36-19. The Presidents put up considerable resistance during the first half, but the Wittenberg five, with an onslaught of baskets during the second frame, turned the contest into a rout.

Dunlap Wins Shoot By Slight Margin

Competition Is Keen Between Members Of The New Castle Rifle Club

Competition was keen at the weekly shoot of the New Castle Rifle club held in the city hall basement range and Dunlap was the winner by the narrow margin of two points over Masson, his nearest opponent. Each of the competitors shot twice from the four positions, standing, kneeling, sitting and prone.

The possible score was 400 and Dunlap made 377 in the 10 rounds. Masson made 375, while Fulkerson was a close third with a score of 369.

Scores made by the various members of the club in the two rounds with a possible score of 400 were as follows—Dunlap 377; Masson 375; Fulkerson 369; Mulachy 365; Frank 357; Rohrer 342; Bruno 345; Shippler 343; Nixon 341; Panello 339; Turner 338; Chambers 330; Jamison 329 and Anderson 325.

A French designer says we are approaching a new day in styles. That's the way it sounds, but doubtless it's spelled "mide day".

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Feb. 26—Grove City College's quintet with Rockel in the starring role, today had avenged a defeat handed them earlier in the floor season by Grove City College, by coming from behind last night to take an extra-period contest, 36-35. With only 2½ minutes to play, the Genevians held a five point lead, but the Grovians cut this down and tied the count as the whistle blew. score 21 all when he tallied from the side. A double foul was called on J. Uram and Yoos. Both passers made the try good and the score was again tied 22-22.

Ambridge took possession of the lead when Gutowski made good one out of 2 fouls. Nick Uram came through with his only double decker at the right time when he took the ball and dribbled to the foul line and sank the ball through the hoops to give New Castle a 24-23 lead.

There remained but one minute left to play and it was anybody's game. One of Ambridge's players violated the rules and fouled Andy Lasky. This cager admitted a thunder of noise which shook the huge floor made good the foul which gave his team a two point lead. Tony Matzie took the ball and rushed it down the floor where J. Uram took a shot which he missed as the gun sounded ending the contest. The final score was 25-24.

The triumph for New Castle was a clean cut one. Although their opponents were much bigger in height the Tin City boys showed that it takes more than height to win a ball game. The defense presented by both teams was good except in a few instances when the two fives became excited due to the close score and their rivals broke through.

On the defensive end of the game New Castle appeared to have the edge. Ambridge accounted for several shots near the center of the floor.

New Castle scored all most all of their field goals under the basket. Two lads who played a great part in the victory were Andy Lasky at center and John Uram. Lasky out jumped Yoos in almost every instance. Aside from his good playing at the pivot post he scored four field goals and 1 out of 6 fouls.

Little John Uram proved his worth. He was in nearly every play. His three field goals and three fouls had a lot to do with the victory for New Castle. For Ambridge the playing of Tony Matzie was outstanding. This lad accounted for four goals and two fouls. Yoos at center also played well.

As a result of the victory New Castle will now prepare for its second round battle at Pitt Stadium which will bring the Coach Bridenbaugh machine again the winner of the Monessen-Bentleyville game.

... Fastest Gasoline Success in Pennsylvania History

A LITTLE over two years ago, you couldn't buy a gallon of this gasoline in Pennsylvania. Since then, the fastest-won army of motorists in the State's history have changed to "Standard." And, to meet this demand, thousands of dealers everywhere have given up other brands ... to take on "Standard."

"Standard" offers you something better than a new kind of gasoline. It offers you proved performance—a gasoline that is already the most popular on the entire Atlantic seaboard. It offers quality, backed by the largest refining company and the greatest gasoline research laboratories in the world.

It offers you quicker starting and pickup. A clean, completely distilled gasoline—no sulphides (you can tell them by the odor!) to damage your motor, no gum to foul the valves, no "heavy ends" to cause crankcase dilution.

"Standard" is simply all-round, better gasoline. A tankful will prove it to you.

Refined by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and marketed exclusively in Pennsylvania by the STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Changing to the winner—During the past two years, thousands of dealers all over the State have done this ... changed to "Standard" Gasoline. Changed with tens of thousands of Pennsylvania motorists!

To the fore—From scratch ... to every part of Pennsylvania ... in two brief years! The record-breaking success of "Standard" Gasoline kept many crews of men working at a terrific pace to build service stations fast enough to meet the demand.

KEEPING IT HOT

Stove League Gossip

Twenty-eight former Texas league players come up to the big show this season. That is—if they prove they have the stuff in training camp.

Spring training for Detroit Tiger pitchers includes climbing around on the side of a mountain to get their legs into condition.

Four catchers—Bob O'Farrell of the Giants, Val Picinich of the Robins, Cy Perkins of the Yankees, and Miguel Gonzales of the Cardinals will have played 14 years in the major leagues by next October.

Babe Herman, Robin ball slammer, has more bats than any other member of the Brooklyn team.

Manager Bucky Harris of the Tigers is expecting at least a dozen victories from Whitlow Wyatt, sterling moundsman who will be a major league sophomore this year. Two years ago he was playing Class B ball.

A sensation in training camp last ear, Wyatt's pitching muscles tightened up in July, seriously handicapping the Tigers through loss of his aid.

In the first workout this spring, Wyatt tossed a few to Coach Roger Bresnahan and discovered that his arm was once more, apparently, in A-1 shape. However, he will go slow for awhile.

The Prince of Wales is a unique traveling salesman. He's the only one who can't make himself seem a little more important by registering from New York.

Believed Suicide

Officers Probing Death Of Man
In Store, Bring Out
Suicide Theory

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 26.—Another theory emerged today as to the manner in which Silvio Lucarelli, 47, met death in his fruit store on the Brownsville road, Carrick, homicide detectives today were of the belief that the fruit-store proprietor copper-mill worker and property owner had taken his own life so that his family could collect double indemnity on his $27,000 insurance policies.

Lieut. Frank Ferris and Samuel E. Wheeler of the homicide squad believe that the man had disarranged the stock in his store and opened the safe before shooting himself in the heart. Found with a 38 revolver near him by his wife at 6 o'clock in the morning, Lucarelli at first was thought to have surprised bandits in the act of looting his store. Examination of the course of the bullet and powder burns by ballistic experts strengthened the suicide theory, according to the detectives.

A program will be in order immediately following the dinner after which an inspection will be made of the grounds and buildings. It is strange that many of those alarmists who foresee the destruction of all culture by machinery use radio to broadcast their fears, read their speeches from typewritten manuscript and then ride home in a taxi.—The New York Sun.

Immense Sum Is Now Invested In Motor Transport

Twenty-Five Billion Tied Up In Rolling Stock, Garages
And Bus Terminals

Investment in the national motor transport system now totals $25,000,000,000 which is tied up in highways, rolling stock, garages and bus terminals, according to Ralph W. Botsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

Mr. Botsinger declared that the investment in rural highways, now exceeds $12,500,000,000, and accounts for half of the total, which has nearly doubled since 1925. Motor vehicles, garages, truck and bus terminals and other motor transport facilities are estimated at twelve billions with two-thirds of this amount invested in rolling stock. The present valuation is on a basis of twenty-six and a half million motor vehicles, with an average of $300. The balance of the total investment of four millions is in private and commercial garages.

The A. A. A. executive pointed out that this investment naturally has an important bearing on the economic structure of the nation and equitable taxation is essential to its orderly development.
